1 Rich. III

RAn[d]ulf de Hethindenne, son of Matilda, a knight of west Kent, joined the Third Crusade 1187–92. He occurs in charters (nos 30–6) to the monks of the Abbey of Robertsbridge, Sussex, relating to his fees in Hecthinden, also Croke, Wokele, etc., with disposals ‘on his journey to Jerusalem’, marked with his seal of an armed knight on horseback riding to the dexter, holding a pennon charged with a saltire cross, bearing the legend ‘Ranulfe de Etindenne’.

In June 1222 his widow Clarice sold lands at Haffenden, Enock, Ockley, Siseley and Hugebroc in Tenterden and Hawkhurst, to Abbot Nicholas, of Robertsbridge (19 June 1222, Kent Feet of Fines). In 1242/3 Willelm de Hethindenn holds fees in Rolvinden from Orable de Meyhanm, who holds from the Countess of Eu (Testa de Nevill, Part 2). The surname seems to have been established by the late 13th century, when it occurs frequently in the Kent Hundred Rolls and Lay Subsidy Rolls 1274–1335.

Laurence Hethenden, of Bugglesden, occurs 1445–52, and was bailiff and landholder of Tenterden, Kent, in 1452. He may have been the father with other issue of:

<sup>122</sup> For marriage of Francis Hallows and Mary Haffenden, see: The Plantagenet Roll of the Blood Royal: The Anne of Exeter Volume, p. 208. The Glapwell Hall estate came into the Hallows family after the marriage of Elizabeth, dau. of Thomas Woolhouse, to Samuel Hallows, son of Samuel of Norton, in 1684. The Hallows family of Norton became prominent through the activities of Nathaniel Hallows (1582–1661), probably son and heir of Thomas of Derby, an active Parliamentarian and member of the Long Parliament for Derby in the Short and Long Parliaments.

<sup>134</sup> Thomas Norris Ince, 'Genealogy and Local History of the Wirksworth Area, Derbyshire, from 1600' (abstracts of Title, Wills, Deeds and other documents, church & churchyard notes, Bible entries, Court rolls, etc., from information of various people as to their descent, by Thomas Norris Ince of Wirksworth begun in 1824 & continued at Wakefield to 1860), Devonshire Colln, Derby Local Studies Library. Gives full Dalley genealogy from John Dalley to the mid-C19. Dalleys are recorded in Stamford from the late C17: eg., Amye Dalley married there 1672.

<sup>135</sup> Family records. Dansey of Somerby occur from early C15. John Dansey and Margery, his wife, occur as co-executrix with William Statherne, vicar of the church of Stapulford, of will of James Belers, in a plea of 20 marks v. John Draper of Howes, gent., Michaelmas, 9 Henry VI, 1430 (De Banco Roll 679, membrane 224d.); John and Margaret occur in the vill of Somerby 20 Jan 1435, Feet of Fines (CP 25/1/126/75); Margaret occurs as late wife of John (C1 10/119); John Dansey occurs 24 Henry VI seized of lands at Somberby (Throsby, Leicestershire, Suppl. Vol., 1791, p. 390) and occurs as witness to a deed in Berkeley Castle, 1447 (BCM D/5/72/1); John Dansey of Somerby and Alice his wife occur 10 Jan 1478/9 (J. & T. Spencer (ed.), Leicester & Rutland N. & Q., 1895). William Dansey assigns 3 acres in the vill of Athelsthorp, 1316–19 (BCM D5 71/3–4).

John Dansey and his son John Dansey Jr held lands at Somerby and at Frisby (CIPM, 14 HVII, no 133). John and John Jr received a bequest of £20 under the will dated 1434 of Joan Beauchamp, Lady Abergavenny (C67[Patent Rolls]/38 MS27; Dugdale, II, p. 1031–2) and were probably retainers of the Beauchamp-Ormond family owing service to Joan. By 1435 after Joan's death, Dansey became a feoffee of her son-in-law, James Butler, earl of Ormond (husband of her daughter Joan) (CPR, 1429–36, p. 506; GEC, x, p. 125) and delivered seisin of manor or Haselbeche, Northants, to James Butler. A few months later, he conveyed Lady Abergavenny's manor of Ashby de la Zouche to Humphrey Duke of Gloucester (HMC, Hastings, I, p. 1) and was enfeoffed with lands in Essex, with reversion to the same James Butler. Much of John Sr's declared annual income in 1436 must have been derived from annuities, for when John Jr's Inquisition post mortem was taken in 1496, the net value of his land in Somerby and Little Dalby was only £7 16s. (E179 [Exchequer Subsidy Rolls]/192/59; CIPM, 14 Hen VII, no. 133). (Eric Acheson, A Gentry Community: Leicestershire in the Fifteenth Century, c. 1422–85, CUP, 1992, pp. 84 and 225.)

William and George Dansey in manor of Somerby, and Robert, occur 1501–1600 and 1551–3 in equity pleadings before the Court of Chancery (C4 10/55 and C 1/1297/10).
